THE LABOR SIGNAL IN COURT

Owners of the Paper Object to Its Being Conducted for the Democratic Party.

A Receiver Asked for, and Gruelle will Probably Be Compelled to Account for His Doings-Mr. Cole's Political Principles.

Thomas Gruelle and other alleged representatives of organized labor are beginning to pay the penalty for misrepresenting workingmen and attempting to control their unions and assemblies in the interest of the Democratic party. For several years the Labor Signal has been the organ of these organizations in Indianapolis, and during most of that time Gruelle has been employed by a co-operative publishing company as editor of the paper. Recently be and others amployed with him have ceased to publish it for the purposes originally designed, and have made it a thorough Democratic campaign sheet. It has been frequently charged that the State central committee of that party was buying a large number of the papers and circulating them over the State for campaign purposes. All this was done under the guise of an organ of organized labor. Of late the paper has been made the purveyor of slanders against Republican candidates which other Democratic papers would not use. The directors of the company by which the paper was published have all along objected to its prostitution to so base a purpose, and frequently warned Gruelle and those connected with him that there would have to be a change of policy. Gruelle refused to listen to their admonitions, and the result was the filing of a suit in the Superior Court last evening, asking for an order restraining Gruelle and the other defendants from publishing the paper; for an annulment of a pretended lease they hold; for an order compelling them to make an accounting of funds they have received. The court was also asked to appoint a receiver.

The plaintiffs in this suit are Thomas Egan, William Allred, Jared R. Buell, William Johnson, Michael Crosby, Edward Allred, Allen Jennings, and James W. Maher. Thomas M. Gruelle and John Bodenmilare the defendants. The complaint sets forth the object of the company, and quotes from the by-laws to show what duties are to be performed. These give to the directors general supervision of the company's business, and make it incumbent on them to employ persons to conduct the paper, but they must be stock-holders. The complaint further says that the stock was taken by various subscribers, "with the understanding that the paper to be published by the company should be, in name and in fact, a true and faithful champion of the laboring interests; whose influence should not be the subject of the commercial conscience of any one man, or clique of men, who might value money above principle." It is then cited that one of the unwritten but well-understood objects of thestock-holders was the management of a paper devoted entirely and exclusively to the interests of the Labor Union, and the laboring classes, and to ignore the old party lines and influences. With that end in view the directors purchased the Signal from Gruelle, who started the paper some time before the formation of the company. A few weeks before the presidential neminations were made, a few directors, with a view of getting possession of the paper for their own use, placed Gruelle and Bodenmiller in charge and secured a change in the board of directors. This was done, the complaint alleges, "so that they might be in a position during the campaign to make the conduct and course of the paper the subject of commercial enterprise and emolument for their private gain."

It is further alleged that Gruelle and Bodenmiller had themselves respectively elected president and secretary of the company, and then assumed entire control of the paper, "using the same in their own interests, under such selfish and corrupt management as to embarrass the company and render it insolvent." The defendants, it is charged, have made no report of the company's affairs, "and have kept the books thereof in close custody, refusing plaintiffs an opportunity for inspection." They are further charged with entering into a conspiracy for the purpose of securing further control of the paper by obtaining a pretended lease. This was done, it is aliezed, "for fear there might be a change in directors, and the defendants political plans would miscarry." It is further stated that a meeting of the stockholders was recently held, and that the defendants were given timely notice of the intended action against them. An inspection of the lease, it is charged, has been refused the plaintiffs, and their right to dictate the policy of the paper, and to employ persons therein has been wholly denied. It is also charged that the defendants have mismanaged the paper and that the directors allow "Gruelle and Bodenmiller, who are unprincipled demagouges [and are barterers of alleged political influence, to dictate the policy of the paper to the injury of the cause of labor." In conclusion it is claimed that the defendants are receiving large sums of money which should be turned over to the company but which they are converting to their own use. The suit is brought by Shepherd & Martindale. The petition for the order restraining the de-fendants from publishing the paper until the matter is adjusted will be heard to-day.

J. J. Cole, foreman at the Indianapolis carworks, and a life-long Democrat, has declared his intention of leaving the old party, and he is now an ardent worker in the Republican campaign, both State and national. For twentyeight years the Democratic party has claimed him as its own, and in that time it is a wellknown fact that he has been an influential man among workingmen. But Mr. Cole is a hardworking man, depending upon his daily wages to obtain support for his family, and the freetrade policy, so recently a brazen fact in the Democratic platform, and Cleveland's messages, has proved too much for him to indorse. "You will leave your old party then?" was asked of him la... night by a Journal reporter.

"No; I am not leaving the Democratic partyit is leaving me. Since 1860 I have voted the Democratic ticket, and I can say one thing that but few men can. As long as I have been a voter I have never scratched a ticket. Never in my life have I voted even for a Republican councilman or constable. I have been a thorough Democrat because I fell heir to Democratic teachings and because I was educated to believe that they were correct." "What are your objections to those principles

"Well, they are not such as would advance the interests of the laboring man. Now, I am a hard working man, but I have made a thorough study of this question, as I think every man should, and when I say the Democratic party is no friend to the workingman I know that I speak the truth. I know that the Democratic ring-leaders are hypocritical enough to pull the wool over the laboring men's eyes, and they will succeed in many cases in doing it. But the Democratic party is standing to-day upon a platform which I cannot, and will not, support. I have thought the matter over carefully, and I shall vote for General Harrison and for the solid State ticket.'

"On what grounds will you base your ac "Upon the tariff question principally. Grover Cleveland has not made a bad President in some respects; but there have been other circumstances connected with his administration which cannot overlook. They may have been blunders, but they show the man's unfitness for such a position. I am well enough posted to know that if the principles taught by the Democratic party to day ever be come established in this country, the wages of the workingmen will go down step by step until we mucht as well stop work and go to begging. The Democrats are opposed to a high protective tariff, and when they say that they might as well say in plain words. 'We are opposed to high wages for poor men. That is virtually what it amounts to, and as long so I have a vote I shall support high protection, for I believe it enables me to support my family in comfort. I shall vote my sentiments in November, and in the meantime I shall do all I can among my acquaintances to have them join me in advancing Harrison and Morton's interest. I have a good deal of faith in the common-sense argument. That has been the means of bringing me around to my senses in a po-

The Irish-American Club. A committee of the Irish-American Club, appointed at its last meeting to make arrangements for the reception of the Chicago Irish American Republicans, on Saturday, met last night in the club-rooms in the Talbott Block. This committee consisted of Edward Nolan, Thos. F. Quill, M. Maroney, James Colter, P. J.

olub has adopted a green ribbon badge, bearing a likeness of Gen. Harrison and appropriate inscriptions. These will be furnished free of charge by Otto H. Hasselman, to whom a a vote of thanks was unanimously extended. The club will also earry a large green banner, which will be made and presented by the Young Ladies' Harrison and Morton Club. A committee was appointed to arrange for the reception, consisting of R. S. Colter, Thomas F. Quill, P. J. Kelleher and Thomas J. Ryan. Extensive preparations are being made for the reception of the Chicago clubs, as the Irish-American vote is one of considerable importance in this campaign, and the local members of the Irish-American Republican clubs feel an intense interest in their success.

Maine's Big Majority. The 20,000 Republican majority that Maine sent in Monday was a subject of comment on the streets yesterday among members of both parties. To the Republicans, as a mass, it came as a bit of surprising and encouraging news, while to those of opposite political faith -their best efforts to cast aside any apparent disappointment failed to conceal their sudden drop in the confidence so long sustained. The almost universal cry among the Democrats was that the result was only a surprise to them because it failed to reach a higher figure. It fell far short, they claimed, of what they had been calculating upon. Absurd as was their sham surprise, their downheartedness was unmistakable. With Oregan in the lead, then Vermont, and now a rousing majority from Maine, the Republicans

think there is every encouragement. Among Indianians, it is said, the tendency will be to create a stronger effort to place their State

among those who have thus far taken a lead with Republican majorities. Made to Follow His Example. There is considerable complaint among many of the minor officeholders in Indianapolis on account of the large assessment for political purposes made on them. It comes on good authority that they were all compelled to contribute liberally to the national campaign fund, and now Chairman Taggart, of the county committee, it is said, has come along and demanded 6 per cent on the annual salary of all federal officeholders. The Democratic county officers have also been compelled to pay large sums. There is another statement to the effect that when any of the federal employes objected to paying the amount of their assessment they were brought over with the argument that if Cieveland could afford to donate 20 per cent. of his salary for campaign purposes they ought to be willing to give 6 per cent. After all this, civil service is said to be in practice in the local federal offices.

To Gather on the Battle-Ground. At a meeting of the Tippecanoe Club of Marion county, yesterday the Hon. Jacob B. Julian, chairman of the committee appointed two weeks since to consider the matter, made a verbal report stating that a strong sentiment existed in favor of holding on the Tippecance battle-ground a convention of the surviving mem-bers of the Whig party of 1836 and 1840 who are now voting with the Republican party. All Republicans of to-day are expected to unite with the old songs on this occasion. The club voted to recommend that such convention be held on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 3 and 4, that Col. R. W. Thompson be invited to speak, and that Gen. Ben Harrison be requested to deliver an address of a non-political character on the second day of the convention.

The Saw and Wheel-Makers. About 250 members of the Saw and Wheelmakers Harrison and Morton Club will attend the meeting of the Twenty-third and Twentyfourth wards, at the intersection of Madison avenue and Morris street, to-night. They will appear for the first time with their new plug hats and canes, which were furnished by Mr. Keileher, the hatter, and it is expected that they will make a fine appearance. Capt. Mike Moroney will command the club.

Tippecanoe County. Tippecanoe county politics is going on in a smooth and unruffled manner, and from a statement made by N. I. Throckmorton, of Lafayette, to a Journal reporter last night, the Republicans expect to carry the county by an incrrased majority. Mr. Throckmorton is the chairman of the central committee there, and says that ex-Mayor McGinley, chairman of the Democratic committee, has given up all hope of electing a man on his party's county ticket.

Political Notes. The Virginia-avenue rink has been secured by the Republicans for the large mass meeting be held on the South Side. C. E. Averill and Thos. Smith (Broad-ax). of Pittsburg, Pa., will speak at the First ward meeting of Republicans to-night.

The Sixth ward Harrison and Morton Club will meet at No. 122 Bacon's Block, Fort Wayne avenue, to-night at 7:30 o'clock.

Jas. A. Pritchard and Geo. W. Winpenny are among the speakers announced for the Republican meeting at Nora, Washington township, to-

Hon. Ferd Winter will address the Republicans of the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth wards, at the corner of Madison avenue and Mor; ris street, this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Ex-Governor Porter and John L. Griffiths voice is a marvel of power, and when once heard will never be forgotten, is announced for several speeches in this city. Among his appointments is that for the Thirteenth ward Friday On a train over the O., I. & W. railroad reaching here at 8:40 o'clock last night, a pol was taken showing that 82 passengers were for Harrison, 21 for Cieveland and 5 for Fisk. The ladies also voted, 33 of them being for Harrison, 4 for Cleveland and 1 for Streetor. After this week there will be an average of ten Republican addresses in this county every night, Sunday excepted, of course. The majority of addresses will be by local talent, but arrangements have already been made for speeches from several gentlemen of wide reputation. The largest and most enthusiastic meeting held this campaign at Lawrence was addressed by Jos. R. Perry and Thad. Rollins, last night. Three Republican clubs were organized, one for each precinct, and numerous converts were reported to the cause of Harrison, Hovey, protection and victory. The Tomtinson Hall meeting Friday night, promises to be an unusually interesting one. The speakers will be Dr. Fletcher, Superintendent of the Insane Asylum under Democratic, administration and a late convert to Republicanism, and ex-Congressman Finerty, of Chicago. Dr. Fletcher will speak about the way the benevolent institutions are conducted by the Democrats, and Mr. Finerty will have something to say of interest to the Irish-Americans. Corporal Tanner, of New York, is also to address the meeting. The civil-service reformers took notice of the fact that James Deery, superintendent of the carriers in the local office, presided over the Democratic meeting at Masonic Hall on Tuesday night. It is said, however, that the Democratic leaders are excusable for this violation of President Cleveland's personal platform, inasmuch as they found it utterly impossible to find any other acceptable Irish-American who would preside over the meeting. They applied to three or four others at least, who declined to serve.

THE NEW STREET-CAR SYSTEM.

Improvements Already Made and Others Projected by the Citizens' Company. the parochial schools.

Although to outside appearances the street railway question has been settled satisfactorily to the citizens of Indianapolis, with the exception of some complaint in certain localities where no lines exist, there is still some evidence of contention among the supporters of the Dudley company. The Citirens' company, however, shows a tendency to disregard any such meddling, and its officers say that it is their intention to proceed with their improvements and extensions until the people will have a system of car transportation equal to that of any other city where horse-cars are exclusively run. There has already been a marked improvement over the system the people were compelled to endure for a long series of years. The open cars, used so extensively in the East, were merely an experiment here, but they have given such universal satisfaction that they will in time be used exclusively in the spring and summer months. Not only has improvement been shown in the open cars alone, but an entirely new style of inclosed car will be adopted for winter travel. Twelve have already been ordered, and they are expected to be here for trial by Oct. 3. These cars are of the latest appattern, being much larger than those now in use, with a plat-form in the rear. All of the modern conveniences will be attached, and it is thought that they will meet with as much satisfaction for winter weather as have the open cars during the heated term.

In the way of new track the Citizens' company is pushing ahead as rapidly as it can. Some weeks ago it was unable to secure material in sufficient quantities to meet the demands of the work. This delayed the company to a great extent, but now the case is reversed. The material is plenty but hands are few. "We could employ extra hands to-day if we could get them," said Wm. T. Steele of the Citizens' company, yesterday. "When we we so busy fighting the Dadley people we were embarrassed for the want of rails. That was the reason we quit work on certain lines when we did. But we shall go right ahead now, and we don't intend to stop until we have given to Indianapolis a street-raffway system second to none in the country." "What extensions are you anticipating build-

"We are improving the North Alabama-street line, laying a double track from North Pennayli vania street east on Seventh and north to the Exposition building. I have had a number of people ask me if that wasn't only to be used during State Fair week. I want it understood that we will run cars every ten minutes right to the door of the Exposition building. Nor is this a one-day affair. Tolt will be done every day in the year. Our new steel track is of the latest patent, and is the best we can purchase. This we are laying in several directions. We began a track to Crown Hill some time ago, but for want of men we had to take the Crown Hill force away and put them to work on the Seventh-street line, because we wanted that finished for the State fair. 1 But we will begin work again, and by a week from next Sunday we will have cars running to Crown Hill. By that time we shall have completed the Prospect-stree line, which is to run to Reid street. By next Friday we will have cars running on the Central avenue line to Tenth

"Will there be any further extensions before "We contemplate several more in addition to those now begun. We shall extend the Perustreet line northeast, running within a few blocks of the Atlas works. The East Michiganstreet line will be run to the Arsenal grounds. Just what other track will be laid is hard to tell so far ahead, but we do not aim to stop for a long time yet.

"You will begin to need more stable room "Yes, we are crowded for stable room now. We are going to build a new car-house west of the river on Washington street that will hold a hundred cars. Besides this, we will need one or two new stables before winter sets in, but just where they will be located isn't determined yet. We have only one object, and that is to work for the interests of the cifizens. We have made promises, and we will keep them, if our patrons will only show a little patience."

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

T-Trace of precipitation.

"Doe" Zane (colored) was fatally shot, Monday night, at St. Louis, by Ed Williams, also colored, in a row at a low dance. The trouble came up over a woman named Dilliard. The dory Dark Secret, which started on its voyage from Boston to Queenstown, some weeks son, who arrived at New York yesterday in the Norwegian bark Nora.

A telegram from Prescott, A. T., says a westbound express train was stopped by three men at Parker's Mill, Monday night. They did not get anything. A reward of $1,500 has been offered for their capture, and Wells, Fargo & Co. will increase the amount.

While resisting arrest, near Muskoges, I. T. Dan Barnett, a noted desperado, was riddled with buckshot by Marshal Tyson and posse. The officers had been tracing him for several days and finally found him near Muskogee. He drew his revolver and was promptly shot down. Si Bearder, a negro desperado who murdered officer Palmer, at Springfield, Mo., Aug. 8, was brought to St. Louis Menday night, and lodged such a narrrow escape from judgment that Sher-Burglars attacked the house of J. E. Wood, at Buchtel, O., Monday night, and met with a warm reception. Mr. Wood was awakened, and, seizing a revolver, silently crept out of the house. He found one of the thieves about to enter the house and fired, the ball striking the burgiar about the hips. He uttered a deep groan and started to run, calling his pal, who came to his rescue, and they made their escape. M. J. McGuire and Samuel Remer, employed in a South Omaha packing-house, engaged in a novel contest on Monday. Five hundred people gathered at the base-ball grounds to see them test their abilities as beef skinners. The match was for $50 a side and the gate receipts. Two dead beeves were brought in, and when "time" was called both men set to work. McGuire removed the hide from his subject first, doing the job in four minutes and fifty-two seconds. Remer's time was five minutes.

CLEVELAND'S PROHIBITION ALLY. Chairman Dickle Makes a Straight Indorsement of the Mills Bill.

New York Special to Philadelphia Press. Samuel Dickie, manager of the Prohibition campaign, has been in charge at the national beadquarters here ever since they were opened. It has been stated that Mr. Dickie is a freetrader, an advocate of the Mills bill, and, therefore, has a twofold interest in pushing the Prohibition canvass, for the greater number of votes General Fisk receives in this State and New Jersey the better are the chances for success of the free-trade presidential ticket. I called on Chairman Dickie, at headquarters, today, and had the following interview:

'Are you a free-trader, Mr. Dickie!" "No, sir; I am a tariff-reformer, though. I consider the Mills bill an improvement on our present tariff schedule, and believe it to be a step in the right direction. The tariff ought to be lowered in every instance so as to cover merely the difference in the labor cost of the article. How to determine this is a question, but I do not think the changes proposed in the Mills bill do away with the difference in the cost of production here and abroad."

'How about placing wool on the free listdoes not that have that effect?" "Well," replied Mr. Dickie, "I suppose free wool would be an injury to the farmer, but i would probably be an advantage to the mantifacturers. As to the other articles I must decline to express an opinion, for I have not stud-ied the Mills bill yet carefully, and have only a general idea about its changes.

Professor Dickie's replies place him squarely on the President's platform. The one difference between the head of the prohibition canvass and the candidate of the Democracy is that the former adds the extermination of the liquor interest to his demands. Both, however, favor the abolition of the protective principle in the tariff laws. It would be well for any Republicans who incline toward the prohibition cause to know the attitude of the leaders of the party. for in the present contest their canvass is nothing more than an intrigue to weaken the protection candidate by bringing another issue into the campaign.

National Protective Association. NEW YORK, Sept. 11.-The annual convention of the National Protective Association began this morning. This organization is composed of the spirit distillers of the United States, and has about eight hundred members, who represent $150,000,000 of invested capital. John M. Atherton, of Kentucky, is president, and C. C. Turney, of St. Louis, secretary. The purpose of the convention is to consider some general system of license which will be applicable to all branches of the trade, and which will be presented to the public for approval.

tion is composed of wholesale dealers only, yet the retail dealers of this city have been invited to attend. Other matters relating to the trade will also be considered, and the work of electing general officers begun. The wholesale wine merchants of this city will entertain the members of the convention with a banquet at Del monico's to-morrow night, and Charles McK. Loeser will preside. Mayor Hewitt, Commissioner Andrews, Henry Watterson, John Atherton, and many others, it is expected, will respond to toasts, speaking on the moral, the economic, the hygienic and legal aspects of the trade. Delegates were present to-day from Oswego, Pittsburg, Boston, Baltimore, Cincinnati, St. Louis, and Richmond, Va. This is the third annual convention. The first one was held in Chicago in October, 1886, and the second at Cincinnati in September, 1887.

Cleveland Did Say It. Milwankee Sentinel.

An inquirer writes to the Indianapolis Jour-1. Was Thurman really a rebel! 2. Did Cleve-land say: "Liquor is good enough for me?"

To these questions the Journal replies: 1. He was an anti-war Democrat, and aided in the obstructionist policy to the best of his ability. 2. We have not seen this remark ascribed to him.

We are surprised that the Indianapolis editor has never heard of Mr. Cieveland's sententious remark on the subject of whisky. It was one of the notable sayings that fell from the great man's mouth during his visit to this State last year. He was taken upon a fishing excursion upon Lake Mendota, adjacent to Madison, one of the most beautiful lakes in the world. The excursion was supplied with good things, liquid and solid, among the former wine and whisky. When the President was asked what he would take he gave utterance to that Jeffersonian sentiment that warmed the heart of every Democrat in the audience: "Whisky is good enough for me."

Many Gems.

Nebraska State Journal. General Harrison distributes a good many pearls of wisdom from day to day, although he is not working very hard. His occasional references to pensions and protection are spiced with the smoothest kind of logic. If the burrah business were not overdone, the Journal would hurrah for Harrison.

Just as Fair. Uncle Sam, in Time. Ben Harrison, my joe, Ben, when we were first acquaint, I thought that Grover was my man, but now I know he ain't. The bloom was on the bonnie brow of Frank, and pleased me so; but there's as fair right where you are, Ben Harrison, my joe!

Advice to Motners. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It reheves the little sufferer at once; it produes nat-ural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty five cents a bottle.

True Economy

It is true economy to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla, for "100 Doses One Dollar" is original with and true only of this popular medicine. If you wish to prove this, buy a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and measure its contents. You will find it to hold 100 teaspoonfuls. Now read the directions, and you will find that the average dose for persons of different ages is less than a teaspoonful. This is certainly conclusive and unanswerable evidence of the peculiar strength and economy of Hood's Sarsaparilla. "We began using Hood's Sarsaparille in our institution some months ago, and having watched its effects, wish to say that we find it a good, reliable and beneficial medicine for family use, and for hospitals and institutes such as ours." SISTERS OF MERCY.

West Fourth street, Cincinnati, O. "I took Hood's Sarsaparilla for loss of appetite, dyspessia and general languor. It did me a vast amount of good, and I have no hesitancy in recom-mending it." J. W. WILLEFORD, Quincy, Ill.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED

The Indianapolis Natural-gas Company expects to UNDERSELL ALL COMPETITORS in the gas business. We make all contracts for domestic, store or office use at 30 per cent. off. We will add to these contracts a clause AGREEING AT THEIR TERMINATION TO CONTINUE TO SUPPLY GAS AS LOW OR LOWER THAN ANY COMPETITOR WILL THEN SUP-PLY YOU. Also, when the time comes, as it surely will, when it will be hard work to get a gas supply from any company, we shall give the preferance to our early patrons.

The inducement that is being held out by others that they will next year or some other time supply you at half price is MISLEADING and a SUBTERFUGE.

Buy only of the company that SELLS CHEAP NOW, and agrees in the contract to continue so to do. This gives you a certain advantage.
